1. INTRODUCTION

The Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act

- 1.1 The Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act came into force in September 2004. This legislation introduced major changes in the system of planning for the development and use of land. The Act introduced Local Development Frameworks, and it links development planning to other community priorities in the borough - for example education and health service planning. In November 2008, a new Planning Act received royal assent and came into force in 2009. This introduced a number of adjustments to the system, which –
- removed the requirement for the statement of community involvement to be subject to examination and to be listed in the local development scheme
 - removed the requirement for supplementary planning documents to be subject to sustainability appraisal and to be listed in the local development scheme
 - granted powers to the High Court to return part or all of a plan subject to High Court challenge to an earlier stage in its preparation process.
- 1.2 The 2004 Act enshrined a commitment to early community involvement in the planning process. It also requires local planning authorities to hold publicly available information on how well the authority is performing in planning for the borough, what plans exist and what new plans the authority is working on, and how the public can be involved in the planning process. (See back cover for information on Ealing documents).

Sustainable Communities

- 1.3 The declared purpose of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act is to facilitate the development of sustainable communities. Good planning is critical to delivering sustainable communities - it 'helps to deliver homes, jobs, and better opportunities for all, whilst protecting and enhancing the natural and historic environment, and conserving the countryside and open spaces that are vital resources for everyone' (PPS1, para 1, ODPM 2005). Integral to this process is also 'the prudent use of resources', in other words 'making more efficient use or reuse of existing resources rather than making new demands on the environment, and seeking to promote ... the use of renewable resources' (PPS1, para 22, ODPM 2005).

The Role of Government - National, Regional and Local

- 1.4 Having sponsored legislation and associated regulations and orders, the government's Department of Communities and Local Government (CLG) is continuing to update planning policy statements to ensure that they provide an appropriate context at the highest level. Regional government also has a clear and positive role in the system. For Ealing, the Greater London Authority, headed by its elected Mayor, is the regional authority. The Mayor's 'London Plan – Spatial Development Strategy for Greater London' forms part of the development plan operative in the borough and right across the metropolitan area.

- 1.5 The responsibility of Ealing Council, as local planning authority, is to add to this by providing a local development framework (LDF). Ealing's LDF comprises a series of documents, of which this local development scheme is one. At present the LDF includes the adopted unitary development plan (Ealing's adopted 'Plan for the Environment' 2004) and supplementary planning guidance¹. The LDF must add locally distinctive spatial policies, which take forward the principles of sustainable development and the policies of the London Plan. These must of course respond to local issues and concerns. Figure One below indicates the relationship between the Development Plan and the Local Development Framework.

The Local Development Scheme - its purpose

- 1.6 Within the general context outlined above, a key responsibility of the local planning authority is to produce a Local Development Scheme (LDS). The purpose of the LDS is to show how and when Ealing Council will produce the full range of planning documents required in its Local Development Framework, as defined in the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, and amended in the Planning Act of 2008.
- 1.7 Effectively, the LDS provides a directory of existing planning documents in Ealing (and other relevant documents), and indicates the work that is being done to produce the additional documents necessary. It shows the timescales for preparation of these documents, the way in which the work will be done and the resources needed to do it. It effectively establishes the Council's priorities for forward planning, and includes consideration of further reviews of the documents once they have been prepared and adopted. The framework has and will continue to evolve. This is the third formal version of the LDS. It updates the edition published in September 2007.

¹ Until such time as this is replaced by development plan documents produced under the 2004 legislation.

1.8 In addition to the LDS and the previously produced UDP/SPG, the Council's Local Development Framework includes the following documents -

- Statement of Community Involvement - setting out how the community will be involved in the planning process, both in development planning (LDF) and development management (determining planning applications). The document was completed in 2006.
- Annual Monitoring Report – progress on policies and development (e.g. housing targets), and charting LDF progress (including LDS targets). Four documents have been produced to date, the latest in December 2008.
- Supplementary Planning Documents – a wide range of documents, providing additional detail to supplement the development plan documents. The programme of SPDs will be complete in October 2009.
- Development Plan Documents - development strategy, development sites and development management documents², as well as a proposals map. There is also a joint West London development plan document on Waste. These documents should be complete by 2013, and they will then supersede the Ealing unitary development plan (UDP).

Other documents to be produced as part of the process will include:

- Sustainability Appraisals, including strategic environmental assessment of local development documents (except Statement of Community Involvement).
- Background documents that will inform the production of LDDs. Examples are studies on housing capacity, retail need and flood risk assessment.

1.9 The way these documents relate to each other is illustrated in Figure 2 below. There is more information on the Ealing documents in Section 2 of the LDS. In addition, there is a profile for each programmed Local Development Document, including a timetable, at Appendix A.

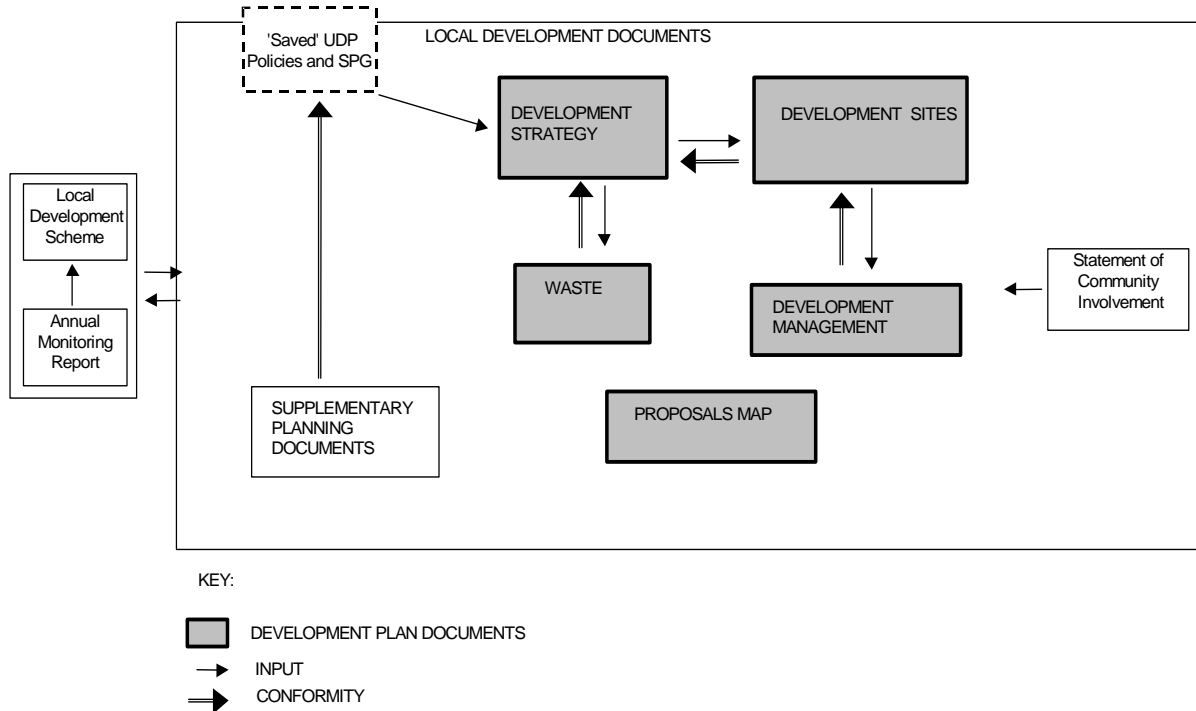

The Local Development Scheme - How it works

1.10 As indicated above, the LDS sets out Ealing's programme of work on development planning and allied matters.

1.11 These documents will be produced according to statutory procedures, and will be subject to Sustainability Appraisals (including compliance with the EU Directive on Strategic Environmental Assessment). An independent government inspector will examine each Development Plan Document in an open forum, if necessary, and consider the views of people who have made representations on the document and have requested an opportunity to appear before the Inspector. S/he will assess the soundness of the document, according to the tests set out by government guidance.

- 1.12 The Ealing LDS is monitored, and will be altered as the need arises. An important prompt for updating the LDS is the Council's Annual Monitoring Report. This might include changing target dates for the production of documents. It could also mean that evidence revealed in the monitoring report (e.g. about environmental quality or housing supply) leads to a conclusion (in the LDS) that a new study or policy document should be added to the scheme. Section 3 of the LDS is a perspective on how the local development framework will be taken forward to 2013 and beyond.
- 1.13 The changes introduced in this third edition LDS are prompted by the AMR, by improved coordination between planning policy, regeneration and community strategy work within the local authority, and as a result of liaison with West London boroughs. There are also some timetabling changes to previously planned projects.

2. CREATING THE LOCAL DEVELOPMENT FRAMEWORK

Government regulations and policy

- 2.1 Government policy continues to evolve. The most immediate area of interest for the local planning authority is the work of Communities and Local Government (CLG) (previously called the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister or ODPM), which is responsible for national Planning Policy Statements and the Planning White Paper 'Planning for a Sustainable Future' (May 2007). There is a commitment that national guidance will be updated to ensure that all relevant statements are entirely consistent with the new approach. National policies have been prepared on climate change and other important matters. Other guidance relates to LDF process matters - community involvement, sustainability appraisals etc. In addition, the UK Strategy for Sustainable Development produced by the Department of Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Defra) is important, as are follow-up documents on Community Action 2020.
- 2.2 The local planning authority will need to keep abreast of this work. Resources are required, both for responding constructively to consultation drafts from the CLG and for considering the implications of each finalised Planning Policy Statement for the Council's planning processes. Individual reports are likely to be prepared by the Council in relation to important aspects of government policy. These can be catalogued as Background Documents in relation to the LDS. They are referred to in the Annual Monitoring Reports, and conclusions for further work identified in updates of the LDS.

The London Plan and a Sub Regional Development Framework for West London (SRDF)

- 2.3 The Mayor of London's spatial development strategy (also known as the London Plan) was first published in February 2004. This has since been revised and republished in February 2008 as the Consolidated London Plan. This forms part of the development plan for Ealing, along with the Ealing Council's adopted unitary development plan (also known as the Adopted 2004 Plan for the Environment).
- 2.4 The Mayor's office produces a range of other documents which are relevant to planning in Ealing, and, as with documents produced by national government, Ealing Council works to ensure that the implications for the borough are fully taken into account. The Mayor's Sub-Regional Development Framework (SRDF) for West London is an important example. The final version of the SRDF was published in July 2006. Similarly, the Mayor has produced a draft opportunity area planning framework for Park Royal. This was finalised in 2009.
- 2.5 The Mayor, elected in 2008, is currently reviewing the policy context for London planning and in September 2009 published draft proposals for a Replacement London Plan to be adopted by December 2011. Ealing will be closely involved in this process. Borough officers will also be involved in London-wide research and monitoring, relating to housing, economy, sustainability and climate change.

Ealing's Adopted 2004 Plan for the Environment - Saved

- 2.6 The Adopted 2004 Plan for the Environment, replaces the first Plan for the Environment (adopted 1995, altered 1998). Ealing's plan policies were 'saved' i.e. retain development plan status in the Local Development Framework, until October 2007. The Secretary of State has since confirmed that the majority of the UDP policies will continue in place until they are superseded by development plan documents. As indicated earlier in this report, this will be until June 2013. UDP policies 1.1 – 1.09 and 1.11 and 5.1 were not saved, and are superseded by London Plan policies.

Supplementary Planning Guidance (SPG) and Interim Planning Guidance

- 2.7 A wide range of supplementary planning guidance accompanies the adopted UDP. Most of this has completed a preparation process analogous to the statutory UDP procedures (except for the public inquiry stage). This adopted SPG reached the adoption stage concurrently with the UDP itself. When UDP policies cease to be saved in the Local Development Framework, the SPG relating to these policies can no longer be retained within the local development framework.
- 2.8 The existing suite of supplementary planning guidance includes some guidance which has the status of approved draft SPG. Some of these SPG notes needed no further updating, and have remained in the LDF in their present form. The local planning authority is satisfied that these will have sufficient weight to be an important factor in the control of development. However, a number of approved draft SPG which needed further work have been taken forward to adoption as supplementary planning documents, in compliance with the new Act.
- 2.9 The preparation of guidance for development sites has led in one case to new ideas about the development plan policy applicable to a site. This has given rise to a draft document categorised as Interim Planning Guidance. It relates to the Greenford Hall area. The policy is being reconsidered as part of the forthcoming Sites Allocations Development Plan Document.

Ealing's Sustainable Community Strategy and other relevant strategies

- 2.10 The 'Sustainable Community Strategy' is produced by a Local Strategic Partnership (LSP) involving Ealing Council and key agencies, business organisations and community interests. It is the overarching strategy for the well-being of the community. The UDP and guidance contribute to the delivery of the Strategy.
- 2.11 The Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 requires sites and other land use requirements identified in the Sustainable Community Strategy and other local strategies to be set out in the local development framework. This is known as a spatial planning approach. The links between the LDF, the Community Strategy and other strategies are indicated in Figure 3, and LSP stakeholders in figure 4.

2.12 Following advice from the Government Office for London and local liaison, the LSP has updated the Sustainable Community Strategy, to include positive consideration of the role of the local development framework. Ealing LSP's Built Environment Board has been tasked to play a key role in this process.

Statement of Community Involvement (SCI)

- 2.13 The Statement of Community Involvement sets the standards by which Ealing Council will involve the community in the preparation, alteration and continuing review of all local development documents - and all development control decisions. It is a clear public statement informing people when and how they can be involved in the preparation of local development documents and other planning matters.
- 2.14 The Statement of Community Involvement was itself subject to community input and independent examination. It was the first document in Ealing's Local Development Framework to be adopted following examination. This process was complete in 2006. A review of the SCI is planned to take place in Spring 2010.

The Annual Monitoring Report (AMR) - and how it relates to the LDS

- 2.15 Annual Monitoring Reports have been published in June 2005 and December 2006, 2007, 2008 and 2009. The AMR is made publicly available and is submitted to the Government Office for London for information. It covers the following issues -
- how the Council is performing against the timescales set out within the LDS;
 - the extent to which planning policies are being achieved;
 - whether targets or indicators have been met, such as housing supply;
 - matters arising from background documents and other relevant publications;
 - whether any policies or documents need review.
- 2.16 This edition of the LDS has taken account of AMR findings (indicated below) which have implications for Ealing's plan making programme. These are referred to in the relevant parts of the document -
- Changed timetabling of strategic documents (government and regional);
 - LSP and community strategy review, and corporate integration in Ealing;
 - Arrangements for a (sub-regional) joint development plan document for Waste;
 - The need for measures to promote policies for affordable housing, town centres, renewable energy and other aspects of environmental sustainability.

Ensuring that Ealing's planning documents are based on full information and that they facilitate sustainable development

- 2.17 The monitoring process is vital in ensuring that development plan documents are based on sound evidence. There are particular requirements to assemble baseline data and to maintain information for the purposes of sustainability appraisal of the emerging local development documents, including the requirement for Strategic Environmental Assessment. Studies have or are being undertaken on waste management, housing, retail and business development and flood risk. Research commissioned by the Greater London Authority will make a major contribution to the borough-level consideration of these and other important issues. This third edition of the LDS highlights additional work to provide background evidence for the local development framework. The work arises from clearer corporate integration on all aspects of planning.

New Development Plan Documents
Strategy, Sites, Development Management, Waste, Proposals Map

- 2.18 The production of a new Development Strategy will supersede the strategy chapter of the UDP. It will clarify links with the Sustainable Community Strategy and consider the new information on development needs referred to above. It will also have particular regard to the Mayor of London's sub-regional development framework for West London and the process of updating the London Plan. The new development plan document will comprise a unique spatial vision for Ealing.
- 2.19 The Development Sites document will follow the Development Strategy. It will be produced in tandem with the Development Management document. The sites document will set out proposals for key sites which can meet the development needs identified in the Strategy. This will be based on assessments of the suitability, availability and accessibility of land for specified uses. The Development Management document will facilitate appropriate development of the borough. The Council will give consideration to policy content to reflect corporate priorities, and on the following issues outstanding at the time of adoption of the UDP -
- the density of development near strategic open space;
 - development in flood plains;
 - development affecting ancient monuments;
 - parking for disabled people and for retail development in town centres.
- 2.20 Government, the Mayor of London and all agencies involved in waste planning and management, are concerned to improve performance in dealing with waste in a more sustainable way. This matter requires coordinated action across West London, and hence a joint development plan document is being produced for Waste.
- 2.21 The Council has entered into an agreement with the constituent Boroughs of the West London Waste Disposal Authority (WLWDA, known as WestWaste) to prepare a joint West London development plan for Waste. The area covers the boroughs of Brent, Ealing, Harrow, Hillingdon, Hounslow and Richmond. The timescale for the development plan document on Waste is updated in this edition of the LDS.
- 2.22 The WestWaste grouping of Boroughs is slightly different from that which forms the West London Sub Region as defined in the 2004 London Plan and the West London Sub Regional Development Framework (SRDF). This latter area includes Brent, Harrow, Hillingdon, Hounslow, Ealing and Hammersmith & Fulham (and is also known as the West London Alliance (WLA) Boroughs)³. The Westwaste area does not include Hammersmith, but adds Richmond upon Thames to the list. Richmond is in the sub-region covered by a South London SRDF.
- 2.23 The Proposals Map is regarded as a separate development plan document in the local development framework. Clearly, work on the documents referred to above will have implications for the proposals map. The Proposals Map document will be updated and published concurrently with the other development plan documents. It will supersede the UDP proposals map by June 2013.

Supplementary Planning Documents (SPD)

2.24 At the time of the commencement of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, Ealing Council had a commitment to prepare a range of supplementary planning guidance. These commitments were then revised and the following SPDs were taken forward in two tranches. The second tranche will be complete by June 2012. The AMR indicated the need for some alterations to tranche one, and arrangements for integrating regeneration and planning policy work since then are reflected in some further changes to tranche two.

SPD Tranche one

- Affordable Housing ⁴
- Community Facilities ⁵
- Sustainable Transport: City Car Clubs, Low Car Housing, Crossovers & Front Gardens
- Residential Extensions (inc bungalows)
- West London Tram Route
- Twyford Avenue Sports Ground Brief

Tranche one previously included documents on conservation and on the validation of planning applications.

SPD Tranche two

- Conservation and Listed Buildings
- Legal Agreements
- Ealing Town Centre
- Greenford Green
- Shop Front Design
- Accessible Ealing ⁶
- Affordable Housing ⁷

Further SPD

The Council may produce further supplementary planning documents as necessary, in the light of the preparation of the programmed development plan documents, and the implications of this process for the supplementary planning guidance adopted with the UDP in 2004.

⁴ These were approved draft SPG which needed further updating, and have been taken forward to adoption as an SPD.

⁵ As footnote 4.

⁶ This will revise an existing approved SPG which needs further updating and will be taken forward to adoption as an SPD.

⁷ A revised SPD is planned to take account of trends outlined in a revised Strategic Housing Market Assessment and consequential changes anticipated in the Replacement London Plan, to be adopted in the Winter 2011.

Further studies

- 2.25 The above paragraphs highlight the key documents required in the years since the introduction of the LDF system, and in the programme to 2013 and beyond. Progress is also planned on studies that will strengthen the local planning authority's evidence base for local development documents and other key outputs.

Conclusion

- 2.26 This Local Development Scheme builds on the framework already in place, including the adopted UDP and guidance. The revised LDS includes challenging but realistic targets for taking forward the plans for development in Ealing. Some have been adjusted to reflect new circumstances and the lessons learnt over the first four years of implementing the scheme for Ealing's local development framework.
- 2.27 On the basis of the resources available, the authority is confident that it can achieve the targets indicated for the Local Development Framework. The scheme provides for the local framework to be consistent with the Mayor of London's Spatial Development Strategy (The London Plan) and the Sustainable Community Strategy for Ealing. It will also provide a framework whereby the documents are internally consistent, and have a chain of conformity, from the strategy to other development plan documents and supplementary planning documents. The LDS itself will be rolled forward when necessary to ensure that there is a three-year rolling work programme in place.

3. UPDATING THE FRAMEWORK – 2010 TO 2013

Keeping abreast of government policy

- 3.1 The need to keep up with government policy will not diminish, and the Council will continue to ensure that there is full involvement in these processes. Changes to Planning Policy Statement PPS12 have informed the changes proposed in this edition of the Ealing LDS. The secondary legislation and further policy changes arising from the Planning Act 2008 will be monitored, and may lead to changes in the future.

Alterations to the London Plan

- 3.2 The Mayor's Office envisages that revisions to the London Plan will be completed by Winter 2011. There has been and will continue to be a need for relatively concentrated and intensive work to maintain involvement in the process, on behalf of Ealing Council, in conjunction with the West London Alliance and London Councils. This will ensure that Ealing's interests are properly represented, and that there is conformity between the finished London Plan and Ealing LDF documents.

Additional Development Plan Documents

- 3.3 It may be that further development plan documents will be needed, arising from the above, from the flow of new local evidence, from the annual monitoring process, or arising from democratic change. If so, further versions of the local development scheme will be brought forward for approval by the Mayor of London.

Supplementary Planning Documents and additional background documents

- 3.4 The need for supplementary planning documents and additional background studies will be kept under review, as will the potential role of non-statutory briefs and other action plans and delivery mechanisms. These will be referred to for completeness in the Local Development Scheme, but work on these documents does not require approval or form part of the statutory scheme.

4. LDF PROJECT MANAGEMENT

A partnership approach to planning for development

- 4.1 The local development scheme for the next three years and beyond represents a major challenge for the local planning authority. The Council is strengthening its well-established partnership approach for involving internal stakeholders and ensuring sign-off by key members and officers. There is also improvement to the links established with the Local Strategic Partnership, and a new system of ward forums, community working groups, and ad hoc liaison with the community. These provide a basis for the working relationships needed to undertake community and spatial planning as envisaged in the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act.
- 4.2 This local development scheme alerts internal and external stakeholders, and the wider community, to the local development framework. The Council has provided advice and training for prospective participants in local development frameworks. As indicated above, the LSP and the sustainable community strategy review reinforce this partnership approach.
- 4.3 The process has also reinforced other linkages within the 'planning world' i.e. training for Planning Members in Ealing, regular contacts with Government Office for London, the Greater London Authority and other local planning authorities - particularly in West London. There have also been contacts with the Planning Inspectorate, which will play a vital role on steering good quality, community based planning documents to adoption.

Decision Processes

- 4.4 The decision processes in the LDF system are clear. Given that strategic planning is now a key activity for almost all agencies engaged in social, economic and environmental action, shared and common processes with other stakeholders will be essential. LDS project management aligns the timetabling of planning documents with the requirements of other participants from the initial stages, through the options and examinations stages, to formal adoption – and of course to the delivery of projects on the ground.

Resources

- 4.5 Notwithstanding the emphasis on partnership working, the officers primarily and permanently involved in the local development scheme are Ealing Council's planning policy and regeneration officers. Clearly, the LDS does not incorporate all the work of these officers - policy advice to Development Control is a key task, which is not included here, and there is a major requirement to make reciprocal contributions to the work of LDF partners and participants. On the other hand, massive value is added by the contributions made by partners and participants' in the LDF processes.

- 4.6 In 2008, LDF work in Ealing was strengthened by the incorporation of the Planning Policy section into Ealing Council's Regeneration and Property directorate. This means the direct involvement of regeneration officers in development plan documents, and new management resources. The staff resources in Planning Policy and Regeneration are supplemented by resources for work commissioned on research projects and on the joint West London development plan document on Waste.
- 4.7 The strengthening of the staff resource allows new emphasis on the evidence base for policy work and a more structured dialogue with organisations involved in business and community needs. It should also allow sufficient impetus to create the new type of policy documentation - spatial planning policies, oriented to a wider range of actions than traditional regulatory policies and guidance for development.

Risk Assessment

- 4.8 The revised Local Development Scheme represents a programme for work on Ealing's Local Development Framework. The project plan is realistic. It is based on an assessment of the resources required to do the work. It is challenging, but not over-ambitious.
- 4.9 There are risks associated with the scheme as set out. These could lead to a failure to achieve the targets set out in the LDS. One risk is a failure to recruit or retain key staff at a time when planners are key workers. There is also a risk in setting up a scheme that is dependent on other agencies meeting deadlines. Slippage can occur if any of these are subject to significant failure. There are risks associated with changes of priority within the Council, changes in local leadership and changes within or to other agencies, and the supply of resources for the tasks to be undertaken.
- 4.10 There are risks relating to the quality of the plans, which require strong inputs from a range of other agencies and broad community involvement. As indicated above, achieving the necessary level of engagement will require determined effort.
- 4.11 There is no way that the risks can be eliminated. However, careful monitoring and management - as envisaged in the legislation - will reduce these risks by providing early warning before they arise, and enabling compensatory action as required.

Project Plan

- 4.12 The project plan, set out at figure 5, indicates the programming of the documents referred to in the LDS. At appendix A there are programmes for each of the local development documents, and appendix B refers to the future of UDP policies, progressively superseded as development plan documents are adopted.
