Lilac Gardens and Areas

Following requests from residents and recommendations of Ward Councillors, the Council is consulting your area for a CPZ. A recent parking survey carried out by the Council has identified a significant volume of parking pressure in the area.

While parking stress was evident previously, the area has been further burdened by increased activity in the area and is likely to have more parking pressure when the new developments are completed. The introduction of controlled parking on additional roads around stations like Northfields and across the borough boundary in Hounslow, etc and yellow line restrictions on Popes Lane are very likely to drive commuters to the uncontrolled roads in these areas for free parking. South Ealing, Acton Town and Ealing Broadway tube and rail stations are only a short walking distance away from your areas.

In consideration of the above, we have identified areas of parking concern as illustrated on the plan overleaf (Core 1 & 2 and Outer). These are the areas we are consulting for a CPZ. In recognition of the possible effect of parking displacement on to the roads east of Core 1 and west of Core 2, we would like to consult the residents of the roads in Outer area as well. Outer area could be included in the CPZ, should one be introduced in any Core area.

All residents are welcome to attend a Public Exhibition on Page 4 where parking plans for the area will be on display. Council Officers will be present to answer any queries about CPZ policies and proposals.

The results of consultation will be considered on an area basis, as opposed to street by street. The introduction of a CPZ will be considered if the response rate of an area is 20% and over. If 60% or above of those who respond are in favour of a CPZ, implementation will be considered. If the response rate is 20% or above, but those in favour is less than 60%, then a CPZ will be considered if measures can be taken to limit the problems being pushed into streets neighbouring the proposed areas.

The closing date for this consultation is

27 January 2014

Parking problems in Ealing
We are looking at ways of managing parking on the public highway as part of an overall transport plan. Introducing controlled parking zones is a way of dealing with parking problems and making our environment safer and cleaner.

However, they are not always popular. Some people think they should not have to pay for parking permits and visitor vouchers, or are worried about how restrictions on parking may affect businesses and residents.

How do controlled parking zones work?
In controlled parking zones, areas where it is safe to park, are marked on the road. Residents, local businesses, and their visitors, are given priority to use a parking space by displaying a parking permit or voucher.

To make sure that shopkeepers don’t lose out, short term parking, called ‘stop-and-shop’, is often introduced for shoppers within the zones. There could be pay-and-display / pay-by-phone bays for casual visitors. Special permits are available for essential visitors such as builders, doctors, etc.

During the hours in which the zone applies, parking attendants make sure that only those with a permit to park, or who have paid for short-term parking, park in the area. This makes sure that our roads are kept free from dangerous parking and that priority for parking is given to residents, businesses and their visitors.

In Ealing, we introduce CPZs in areas which suffer from parking congestion, and in response to demands from local communities. These include areas near train stations and town centres, or areas which suffer from ‘spill-over’ parking because drivers, especially commuters, look for free parking in other areas once a CPZ is introduced in an area they normally use.

Residential roads cannot provide parking spaces for an unlimited amount of cars. In some roads, there are already more parked vehicles than can be parked safely. If you do not park on the street during the hours when controls apply you will not need to buy a permit.

Have your say
We are consulting you to see if you want a controlled parking zone (CPZ) in your road. Whether you live or work in the area, whether you own a car, walk, cycle or use public transport, we want to hear your views.

Please take part in this consultation. It is your chance to have your say on whether a CPZ is introduced in your area in the near future.
What is the difference between the Core Area and Outer Area and how does it affect me?

Core area: The area(s) that are identified to be most affected by parking pressures.

Outer area: An area near the Core area that may bear the brunt of displaced parking if left uncontrolled, should the Core area get a CPZ.

In the past, the Council has made decisions on the consultation results on a street-by-street basis. The overall results of the core area determine whether a scheme will be considered for implementation.

If the core area is not in favour of a CPZ, then the whole area will not be considered for a CPZ. Only if the core area is in favour and the results have met the specific criteria, will further consideration be given to implementing a CPZ.

The results of Core Areas 1 and 2 will be considered independently. If the majority in Core Area 1 support a CPZ, further consideration will be given to introducing a CPZ in Area 1. If the majority in Core Area 2 do not support CPZ, that area will not be taken any further.

In this leaflet we have tried to inform you how controlled parking zones work and to answer commonly asked questions.

If you want to help decide whether a CPZ is introduced in your area, please take part in the consultation by filling in the enclosed questionnaire and returning it in the prepaid envelope provided.

We are aware of and respectful to the needs of the environment.

If you want more information before making a decision, please come to the Exhibition and/or contact the Highways Parking team:

Can I continue to park across my driveway?

Within a CPZ all lengths of the road must be marked, unless excepted, with either a yellow line or a parking bay. This includes the dropped kerbs in front of driveways leading to individual properties. We are aware of the different opinions that this creates. Some residents prefer to have the driveway clear at all times and some residents prefer to allow their or their visitor’s car to park across their own driveway if they wish.

If a yellow line is placed across a driveway, nobody, including the resident or owner of that house, can park across it without risking the possibility of receiving a parking ticket. This only applies during the hours in which the CPZ operates. Outside of these hours the CPZ ceases to operate and the restrictions if any, apply as they do currently, with the resident able to give permission for visitors to park (not applicable to shared driveways) and to seek enforcement action where necessary.

If a residents’ bay marking is placed across a driveway, then the driveway will be accompanied by a white advisory line, showing that access is needed at all times. However, permit holders using their own driveway or their visitors displaying a validated visitors voucher can park across the driveway without being penalised with a parking ticket. This option maximises the available parking during the hours of CPZ operation. While this inevitably leads to understandable concerns among residents of having their driveway blocked by fellow permit holders, in practice, this system works effectively throughout the CPZs in the borough.

What happens next?

We will analyse all responses we receive and will present them, together with any background information, to the ward members for their comments. Cabinet then decide whether a CPZ should be introduced, taking account of the consultation results and any comments or recommendations from the ward members. If the consultation response rate is less than 10%, then irrespective of any majority in favour of a CPZ, no CPZ will be considered. A low response rate will be taken as the evidence that there is insufficient demand within the consultation area for a CPZ.

Results of this consultation will be available on the Council’s website soon after reporting to Cabinet at www.ealing.gov.uk/council/committees. Internet access is available free of charge to borough residents at any library. Paper copies of the ward forum and Cabinet reports can be obtained by contacting committees@ealing.gov.uk or 020 8825 8007

If a CPZ should go ahead, we will publish draft Traffic Orders and you will have another chance to comment. If a zone is introduced, we will invite you to apply for residents’ or business permits and vouchers about three weeks before the start of the scheme.

Your questions answered

We have tried to answer commonly asked questions about how CPZs work, tailored to how a zone could work in your area. If you have more questions, please contact the Highways parking team on 020 8825 6710 or 8052, or visit www.ealing.gov.uk

Where will the zone work?

We are consulting this area to see if a CPZ is needed. We also need to establish the strength of opinion to decide which area should be included in the CPZ.

When will the zone work?

The operational hours of the proposed CPZ, are dependent on the consultation results and whether the proposed area is an extension to an existing CPZ, or an entirely new zone. Extensions will usually adopt the same operational conditions as the CPZ that they are proposed to join. For new zones, residents are asked to identify what they feel are the main causes of parking stress in the area. From the responses received, we will be able to determine the most suitable operating hours to tackle the parking pressure in the area.

How much will a residents’ parking permit cost and who can apply for one?

The cost of permits is £50 per vehicle for one year in CPZs that operate for shorter hours (e.g. 9am to 10am and 3pm to 4pm) and £80 per vehicle for one year in CPZs that operate for longer hours (e.g. 9am to 5pm). Anyone whose permanent address is in the CPZ area and who owns a vehicle can apply for a resident’s permit. Permits allow you to park in any vacant resident or dual-use parking bay during the hours in which it applies. Dual-use bays are pay-and-display bays or pay-by-phone where permit holders can also park. You will need one permit for each vehicle you want to park on the street.

What if I have family or friends who want to visit?

You can buy visitors’ vouchers for family and friends and they can park in the residents’ bays. These cost £60 per hour, capped at £450 for all day. Vouchers are available in books of 10. We will monitor who applies for these books, and how many they apply for. Your visitors will need to put their vehicle details, and the details of the property they are visiting, on their vouchers. You will only need to use a voucher during the hours the zone works.

Aren’t CPZs just a way to make money?

No. The costs of setting up and running a controlled parking zone are quite high. If we raise any money, by law we have to spend it on transport-related improvements.

What about parking for health visitors, people with disabilities, or people with motorbikes?

People with disabilities who are Orange or Blue Badge holders will continue to be able to park for free.

Doctors, nurses, midwives and health visitors who need to visit patients in the area can apply for a general exemption permit. Residents with motorbikes will be able to park free of charge within residents’ bays. However, if motorbike parking becomes a problem, we will look at this again.

I have a business in the area – what about me?

Business permits are available if you need vehicles for your business. If you have off-street parking for your vehicles, you won’t qualify for any business permits.

The yearly cost of business permits is £600 no matter when the zone applies. This cost compares well with local car park charges and other local authority CPZ charges for businesses.

What about my customers and visitors?

You can buy business visitor vouchers for £1.20 an hour, for use in residents’ bays. The vouchers are available in books of 10. You can only buy up to eight books at a time. We will monitor who applies for these books, and how many they apply for. Your visitors will need to put their vehicle details, and the details of the property they are visiting, on their vouchers.

In some cases, when CPZs are introduced, pay-and-display and pay-by-phone parking bays are provided, which – visitors can use for longer hours. These are for people visiting restaurants, bars, and leisure facilities, taking part in a religious occasion, going shopping, or who have an appointment. ‘Stop-and-shop’ bays (where parking would be free for up to 30 minutes) are also introduced to encourage people to use local shops.

What about long-stay parking?

If long-stay parking by non-residents is necessary, we could introduce pay-and-display and pay-by-phone parking, for up to 5 hours or longer, depending on need.

Will any other restrictions apply within the zone?

Parking close to junctions can obstruct visibility and prevent pedestrians, particularly children, from seeing approaching traffic. It can also obstruct pedestrian ramps, causing particular problems for wheelchair users and people with prams and pushchairs. All road junctions within the zone will be protected by marking them with double yellow lines that apply at all times.

Can the parking controls be changed once they have been introduced?

Once a CPZ is implemented, we monitor its operation within the first few months. During this period, residents are welcome to raise any concerns they may have about the zone or request restrictions to be changed. Certain restrictions may then be altered if necessary and/or feasible. A full review of the zone is then undertaken after 12 months of operation. We will consult households and businesses as part of this review.

What other types of permit are there?

Religious Permits – Religious places of worship may apply for up to 25 Religious Permits at £30 per permit. These permits allow parking during the time of operation of the zone and are issued to the manager of the establishment for distribution to members. However, religious permits are only to be used when attending the place of worship.

I live in a private road. Do I have to purchase a permit?

Parking controls will not be placed in private roads or non-highway roads. A permit to park is not required when parking in private or non-highway roads.
This consultation explains our proposed controlled parking zone in your area.

Lilac Gardens & Areas: Core 1
Public Consultation Questionnaire
Controlled Parking Zone

Do you want a controlled parking zone in your road?
Whether you live or have a business in the area, use a car, walk, cycle or use public transport, your views are important.

If you want us to take account of your views, please fill in this questionnaire.
If you are responding on behalf of a business, please write your business name here.

1 Do you want the proposed CPZ to cover your street?
Yes ❑ No ❑

2 What do you think is the main cause of the parking pressure in your area?
Please specify below:

❑ Rail & Tube Stations
❑ Shopping Centre/High Street
❑ School/College etc.
❑ Business/Industrial Centre
❑ Other (please specify) ____________________________

From your response, we will be able to determine the most effective operating times for the CPZ. For example, if the main cause of parking pressure is commuters, it may be that a 2-hour operation is sufficient, whereas being in close proximity to a shopping centre may require a CPZ that operates all day. It is Council policy to introduce the minimum hours necessary to deal with major parking problems.

Remember, you will need to display a permit if you park on the street for the times that any controlled parking zone may operate. You will also need to give your visitors “visitors’ vouchers” if they park on the street during this period.

3 If you have a driveway, would you prefer a white line or a yellow line?
Yellow line (Option A) ❑ White line (Option B) ❑

4 Do you have any further comments?
(for example, on existing parking restrictions in the area, changes to current restrictions, operating times, special business needs and so on)

Ealing Council will use the information you have provided as part of this public consultation to help us understand your concerns in order that we can plan and develop a service that meets the needs of the community. Reports or plans produced from this consultation will not disclose any personal information.

Under the Data Protection Act 1998 you may write to the Data Controller at Perceval House, 3rd Floor NW, 14-16 Uxbridge Road, Ealing W5 2HL, and request a copy of the information we hold about you.
